

What does discipleship look like during COVID-19?

“We aspire to overflow with the redeeming love of Christ where we live, work, and play.”

Live

Home life is challenging right now for each of us. Some of us are home alone, while others have many people packed into a house. Please take the time to meet with Jesus each day. We simply can't love the people in our home drawing on our own strength. For those living by themselves, Jesus can supply true comfort and companionship. For help in developing a rhythm of daily prayer and Scripture reading, don't hesitate to ask Seth or a home group leader.

Work

Keep the dialogue open in your home groups and triads about ways that you can disciple those around you at work (virtually). Also, we must remember the many people who are out of work right now; how can we be actively helping?

Play

Let's continue to creatively have fun with one another and with our neighbors! Call people, have folks "over for dinner" via Facetime, and exercise the discipline of celebration & thankfulness. You could Facetime a family in our church to connect with our young people... or even read them a book. Take a walk, get outside, and swing by each other's houses to wave from the sidewalk!
